Tuesday's Elections.

Mayor Tom L. Johnson, democrat, was re-elected in Cleveland, Ohio, by 5,000 majority over Congressman Burton, the candidate of President Roosevelt, and representing the candidacy of Secretary of War Taft for president.

In Massachusetts Guild (rep.) is elected governor.

In New Jersey Katzenbach (dem.) is elected governor.

Pennsylvania, as usual, elected the republican ticket.

In New York state Edward T. Bartlett and Willard Bartlett, who ran on the republican and democratic tickets, are elected judges of the court of appeals over the independence league. In New York city the Tammany candidates are leading those of the independence league by large majorities.

In Rhode Island Higgins, (dem.), for governor, is making gains, but the race is close.

In Maryland the county returns indicate that ex-Governor Smith wins in the senatorial primaries.

On the governorship in Kentucky, the election will be close, but the returns indicate democratic victory.

In Illinois, twenty counties are supposed to have "gone dry" in the local option elections.

The forty-second annual state convention of the Missouri (interdenominational) Sunday School association will be held in Springfield Nov. 19-21.

Last Sunday's Globe-Democrat devotes a column to an attempt to smooth over the financial flurry and goes back to the Boer war, takes in a good portion of Europe and all of Asia and their reckless expenditures, but forgets, seemingly, that the republican party is in the saddle here at home. What a difference there would be if we had a democratic administration just at present.

SEVEN counties and towns in Missouri will vote on local option, says a Kansas City dispatch, as follows:

Nov. 7—Nevada, in Vernon county.

Nov. 9—Monticello county.

Nov. 9—Pulaski county.

Nov. 11—Aurora, Lawrence county.

Nov. 12—Davies county.

Nov. 16—Caldwell county.

Nov. 23—Jackson county outside of Kansas City and Independence.

Fifty of the 114 counties in the state have already voted and are "dry."

About twenty-five counties, cities and towns are to hold elections before December 31 and the Anti-Saloon league of Missouri expects one-half of these elections at least will be won by the "drys."

THE storm has passed! Roosevelt has arrived at his Waterloo! He stands before the American people today, says the Kansas City Post, recognized by thinking and intelligent men as guilty under the indictment for which the financial disaster of a few days ago furnished the unquestioned and uncontroverted evidence. Indicted with him at the bar of public opinion are all of those truckmakers and magazine owners and newspaper proprietors who have worn the Roosevelt livery to accomplish their nefarious purpose, who have laid the hands of their vanity upon the established institutions of the country to a degree which disaster and destruction and discontent were imminent. And now that the clouds have rolled away and through the rifts the light is coming, the democrats have a right to be proud, for it is the rising sun of democratic principles, the old fashioned democratic doctrines.

In the olden days when the Jew knelt to pray he turned his face toward Jerusalem, and in the awful storms that have just passed by, the same, the sensible, patriotic American people have turned their faces toward the old democracy.

UNDER the headline, "Bryan the Inevitable," the New York Tribune editorially reads a sharp lesson to those republican papers that are trying to make their readers believe that the south is opposed to Mr. Bryan for the presidency, says the St. Joseph Observer.

In the opening lines of its editorial the Tribune says: "The welcome given to Mr. Bryan in Kentucky and Virginia discredits the statements so persistently made that the south is anxious to thrust him aside as a presidential candidate." After a brief discussion of the attitude of the southern democracy toward Mr. Bryan in the past, and of the claims now made in behalf of some northern democrats, the Tribune most pertinently remarks: "Yet these leaders and their newspaper spokesmen have failed signally in firing the southern heart," which still turns toward Mr. Bryan as, on the whole, the party's most deserving and presentable candidate.

Anti-Bryan sentiment in the south has had no real depth or vitality." But still a more remarkable feature of the Tribune editorial is its practical admission that the Roosevelt policy is in line with the principles so long associated with the name and personality of Mr. Bryan. On this point the Tribune says: "The fact seems to be that the south is fairly well satisfied with the Roosevelt administration and its policies and has no desire to see a democratic candidate nominated who could be regarded as antagonistic to those policies and likely to reverse them if elected." This can be construed in only one way, namely, that the Tribune, the leading republican paper of the country, concedes that what President Roosevelt is gaining so much credit for is no more nor less than the carrying into effect of some of the main Bryan ideas. We have strongly insisted, and continue to hold, that whatever is progressive and popular in the Roosevelt administration has been adopted from the principles formulated by Mr. Bryan, and this especially applies to the aggressive attitude of the administration against trusts and unlawful monopolies.

The following information in regard to the game law may be of interest to a number of our readers: No person or persons shall injure, kill or destroy, by any means whatever, the following named game birds, except between the following named dates: Wild turkey, from January 1st to February 1st, and from December 1st to December 31st of each year; quail (bobwhite, partridge) from November 1st to December 31st of each year; the plumbeous grouse (partridge) shall not be killed prior to 1910, after that year the open season shall be from November 15th to December 15th of each year; ducks and geese, January 1st to April 30, and September 15th to December 31st of each year; snipe, January 1st to April 30th and September 15th to December 31st of each year; plover, woodcock, dove, August 1st to December 31st of each year. Any one who shall violate any of the provisions of this section shall, upon conviction thereof, be punished by a fine of not less than $25 nor more than $50 for each offence, and an additional fine of five dollars for each bird injured or killed. It is unlawful to kill deer except in the months of November and December of each year. You can kill squirrels between July 1st and December 31st of each year. You can hunt in your own county without paying a tax. If you go beyond the adjoining counties you must pay a tax of $2.50. Section 26 permits the selling or offering for sale of any birds, fish or game in any county when the same is lawfully caught or taken therein.

Obituary.

Another link is broken
In our household band,
But a chain is forming
In a better land.

Martha E. beloved wife of Anderson G. Chandler, deceased, died at her home near Scopus Wednesday, Oct. 16, 1907.

Mother, thou art now at home,
'Mong angels fair above,
But yet below thy child must roam,
'Til summoned by his love.

She was born March 21, 1831. At the age of about 16 years she gave herself to Christ and united with the General Baptist church at Mount Zion, to which she always remained a faithful member, doing her Christian duty and attending the regular meetings while the church was within her reach.

At the age of 17 years she was united in marriage to Anderson G. Chandler, leading a peaceful and happy life for 41 years, when the death angel saw fit to remove the beloved husband.

During their married life seven children were born to them, one dying in infancy and another, Willie W., at the age of 18. Five still survive, Dr. H. S. Chandler, Woodward, Okla.; Mary E., wife of Dr. S. A. Mayfield, Advance, Mo.; Nancy J., wife of D. F. Bollinger, Mayfield, Mo.; Dr. John J. Chandler, Lutesville, Mo.; and Julius B. Chandler, Scopus.

Children and friends I must leave you,
Leave, yes, leave you all alone;
But my blessed Savior calls me,
Calls me to a heavenly home.

By her death her church has lost a faithful member, the community a good neighbor, her relatives a loving one and the world a pure Christian.

Let us weep not, dear friends, but think with love
Of meeting her in heaven above.

MARVIN E. BOLLINGER (grandson).

Cure Your Dandruff

Why? Because it is annoying, untidy. And mostly, because it almost invariably leads to baldness. Cure it, and save your hair. Get more, too, at the same time. All easily done with Ayer's Hair Vigor, new improved formula. Stop this formation of dandruff!

Does not change the color of the hair.

Ayer's

The new Ayer's Hair Vigor will certainly do this work, because, first of all, it cures the germ which is the original cause of dandruff. Having given this and nature completes the cure. The scalp is removed in a perfectly healthy condition, and the hair grows again.

Latin School Notes.

Attendance for the month ending Oct. 25 was better than it has been in years, aggregating 404-57 1/2 per cent of the enrollment. Some pupils were kept out of school on account of sickness, but a large majority of them came fifteen or more days, and quite a number came every day. I wish to congratulate both pupils and parents on the interest shown and the quality of the work done, and ask for your continued co-operation. None of the pupils is doing all that might be done, but all are progressing well and showing a marked degree of development in proportion to work done. Let us strive to make this third month a banner period both in attendance and work.

Some pupils have left the district, thus curtailing our enrollment, and the others must make up the difference by a more regular attendance.

We held second contest on the evening of the 25th. Owing to the inclement weather our crowd was small, but those present seemed to enjoy the work done, and I am sure I enjoyed the work done, and wish to congratulate those who took part for their rapid and accurate solutions. It certainly required fast thinking to win the prize in this contest. I wish to thank those pupils from other districts for their efforts to make the occasion a success.

Quite a number were present from the Lutesville and Council Ridge districts, and they certainly were representative pupils.

Among those who did the best work were Leon Grimesley, who won the prize, Evan Pentur of Council Ridge, and Mr. Robinson of Lutesville.

I cordially invite all to come again on the evening of Nov. 22. On that date we will have a scorching match, and the prize will be a neat bracelet for the young lady or a handsome scarf pin for the young man who is successful. Everyone, except teachers' business men and those successful in preceding contests, is invited to take part.

I should feel greatly encouraged if more parents would come out to these exercises. Let's have more contestants next time.

Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 27, we will render a Thanksgiving program. All are cordially invited to attend. I hope parents will encourage the children to have some good recitations appropriate to Thanksgiving. JOHN F. WINTERS, Latin, Mo.
